Student Behaviour - Duty of Care

The school teachers, parents/guardians or vacation carers must exercise 'duty of care' at all times during the excursion. Teachers, vacation carers, parents or guardians must be present at all times to supervise their students. YGFA instructors reserve the right to enforce a time out for students behaving in a manner that poses risk to themselves, the YGFA staff or the public.

Student Behaviour Policy

Preamble

The design of the excursion programs are predicated on the assumption that participating school groups will arrive on site; prepared for engagement, that they will be safe, respectful learners who are willing to cooperate with accompanying school staff and education officers as well as collaborate with other students, in order to achieve the program's aims and objectives.

Program activities are conducted in an outdoor setting. The study area of the field environment is relatively isolated and is subject to extremes of weather, seasonal insects, changeable walking surfaces and has no food and limited drink outlets. Students should take personal responsibility in preparing for their excursion by planning for snacks/lunch/cold drinks/ rain protection, suitable covered all terrain footwear, camera.

Achievement of program outcomes, personal satisfaction and individual learning requires students to behave with a high level of decorum. Students should:

- Quietly move around the program study area in a supervised and timely manner
- Record activity outcomes and observations with accuracy and thoroughness
- Manage activity resources safely, dependably and respectfully,
- Treat all others with decency and civility

- Demonstrate empathy with the flora and fauna in their surroundings

- Use cameras and recording devices for excursion purposes only and

- Comply with instructions and directions. (Please see NSW DET Policy 'Student Discipline in Government Schools' 3.1, 3.2, 3.6, 3.7)

Accompanying staff members are ultimately accountable for student behaviour and retain 'duty of care' during the excursion. However, students should be aware of the requirement that they follow instructions and directions from the Education Officers. Students are required to take personal responsibility for their behaviour.

Education Officers will encourage students to practice appropriate behaviour in accordance with the spirit of the preamble and verbally reward them when it is demonstrated. Conversely, after advice and cautions have been issued, an Education Officer may determine that the Student Behaviour Policy has been breached. In consultation with the supervising school staff, an Education Officer may take one of the following actions:

- Misbehaving students or groups are withdrawn from an activity into a supervised 'time out'.

This policy has been designed to provide behavioural guidelines for staff and students who participate in education programs offered by Young Guns Fishing Adventures. This policy is designed in conjunction with the NSW DET Policy 'Student Discipline in Government Schools.'
